FRENCH CABINET HEADED BY RIBOT RESIGNS

President Has Requested Withdrawal—
Senate and Deputies Summoned

(By Associated Press.)
Paris, Sept. 7.—Minister Ribot and his cabinet have resigned, according to an announcement made after a cabinet meeting today. President Poincaré has requested the members to withdraw their resignations until he can convene the Senate and Deputies. He has summoned the President of the Senate and other officials to meet him at once.

AMERICAN BRINGS DOWN 21 MACHINES

(By Associated Press.)
Paris, Sept. 7.—Sub. Lieut. Raoul Reinherbergy of Wallingford, Conn., who has become a star aviator of the Lafayette corps, brought down a total of 21 German air planes on Sept. 4 and 5.

GERMAN FLEET NOT AT RIGA

(By Associated Press.)
Petrograd, Sept. 7.—An official statement issued today states that there are no German warships in the Gulf of Riga outside of submarines. The Russian fleet is ready to give battle when the German fleet arrives.

FRANCE ASKS LARGEST WAR CREDIT SINCE WAR

(By Associated Press.)
Paris, Sept. 7.—The Quarterly War Budget Credit just completed calls for eleven billion, two hundred million francs—the largest amount since the war began. The above amount was made by the Secretary of Finance.

FRENCH AND GERMANS HAMMER WITH BIG GUNS

(By Associated Press.)
Paris, Sept. 7.—There is no change on the Verdun or Champagne fronts. Heavy artillery fighting is being waged by both Germans and French.

SCHOOL BOARD "CUTS OUT GERMAN"

Hoboken, N. J., Sept. 7.—The board of education has voted to cut out German in the public schools here. This city has a very large German population and the action has created a sensation.

THE WEATHER

Forecast for Portsmouth and vicinity—Generally fair tonight and Saturday with slight increase in temperature with east to northeast winds.

GOVERNMENT AID FOR POST ROADS

(By Associated Press.)
Washington, Sept. 7.—The appropriation of $14,500,000 to the aid of states for the construction of post roads under the Federal aid law was made today by Secretary of Agriculture Houston. The money becomes available in June 1919. The New England states amounts: Connecticut $92,000,216; Massachusetts $231,000,261; New Hampshire $62,610; Maine $144,807; Rhode Island $34,372; Vermont $88,728.

MEXICAN RAILROAD MEN PROTEST

(By Associated Press.)
Mexico City, Sept. 7.—Members of the unions of the railroad crafts, especially shopmen protest in the local newspapers against the sending of cars and locomotives from Mexico to shops in the United States for repair. They declare such a practice is extremely dangerous for Mexico, pointing out that should the United States declare an embargo much useful Mexican rolling stock would be held in the United States. They say that to send the locomotives to the United States is to place Mexico in this respect at the mercy of a powerful neighbor. Some of the published assertions seem so strongly anti-American that men in close touch with railroad affairs have no hesitancy in declaring that the utterances are inspired by German agents.

FRANCE RESTRICTS USERS OF POTATOES

Paris, Sept. 7.—The Ministry of Provisions, in view of the beginning of the potato harvesting season and of the fact that the entire harvest is needed for food, has issued a decree restricting the grades of the product, which starch manufacturers may use to small or diseased potatoes. It is pointed out that if unlimited liberty of use were allowed the starch manufacturers, scarcity of the product might be caused, giving speculators an opportunity to inflate prices. All sound potatoes beyond the restricted size found in the starchmakers' works will be requisitioned.

GERMANS RAID ENGLAND AGAIN

Drop Bombs on American Hospitals—Kill Officers and Men.

(By Associated Press.)
London, Sept. 7.—German air planes made other raids today and some of the bombs dropped fell on American hospitals. The hospitals struck were the St. Louis and Harvard units and were situated in a coast village. An American officer of the Medical Corps with three others were killed and 16 wounded, five of the number being Americans, according to official advices.

WASHINGTON NOT OFFICIALLY INFORMED

(By Associated Press.)
Washington, Sept. 7.—The report of the attack upon American hospitals in England had not been received officially here up to noon.

PATRIOTIC GIRLS' FUND RECEIVES $315

The "Chinese House" display with living images arranged by Mrs. Barrett A. Wendell and Henry Weizel for the benefit of the Patriotic Girls' club fund, was a complete success. The committee reports that they secured $315 during the fair. Mr. Wetzel, Mrs. Wheelock and Mrs. Tomhey participated as "Chinese" in the display and acted as sales people.

POLICE COURT

George Cooney of Dover, a weaver, James Engah, a horseman of Portland, and Frank Jefferson, a shoemaker of Lynn, all joined the harvest squad at Popping today. They were all charged with having an overload of guns and with the exception of the Dover violator they were willing to be drafted to the trenches of the county agricultural college. Cooney wanted to go back to his home town on the Cocheco but the court did not want to separate him from the rest of the team. They will exist in the gathering of crops for 60 days.

The case of Clyde Warren charged with non support was not pressed.

INDICT 11 AT DOVER FOR BREAKING AND ENTERING

Dover, Sept. 7.—The Strafford county grand jury reported 25 indictments in the superior court yesterday. Edward H. Moody of Barrington is charged with embezzlement of a mortgage, belonging to Walter V. Cater of Barrington.

MEN AT AYER GET BUSY WITH DRILLS

(By Associated Press.)
Ayer, Mass., Sept. 7.—The first work was started this morning to whip the recruits of our National Army into shape. The setting-up exercises have been put into force. There are now 2018 young men of the 1 per cent ordered into camp. The camp will be open on Sunday from 8 to 5 for visitors. Each soldier is now furnished with cards giving his company and address.

ITALIANS AND AUSTRIANS IN DEADLOCK

Rome, Sept. 7.—The battle around Gouza is becoming a death struggle on both sides. It is the hardest fought battle since the Italians started their advance.

GERMANS PUSHING ON IN RUSSIA

(By Associated Press.)
Berlin, Sept. 7.—We have driven the Russians 40 miles northeast on the Dvina route. The army is continuing its advance with little interruption.

FROST REPORTED IN VERMONT

Montpelier, Vt., Sept. 7.—The first frost of the season was reported this morning.

DOVER EXCITED OVER LAYING OFF OF MEN

Foster's Dover Democrat appears to be greatly excited over the discharge made at the shipbuilding plant and thinks something serious has happened. The men with others will be recalled and others added as soon as the material arrives.

PLANNED TO WRECK AMERICA

Seizures Made In I. W. W. Cleanup
Unearth Gigantic Plans and Fiendish Schemes

(By Associated Press.)
Washington, Sept. 7.—The reports received from the officials investigating the I. W. W. show disclosures proving that there has been a regular plan of operations since and before the war. There has been a nation wide conspiracy to hamper the government in the prosecution of the war, to provoke strikes, burn crops and in every way interfere with the work of the government. It is clearly shown that the labor disturbances are the work of the conspirators. Reports indicate that the plans call for the crippling of all government machinery. The work of these conspirators does not even except the army and navy. The evidence is of a highly sensational character and is almost unbelievable. The documents seized show the entire plan of the work laid out.

REGISTRATION VERY LIGHT AT COLLEGES

(By Associated Press.)
New York, Sept. 7.—The entrance of a decrease of from 10 to 20 per cent rolls at all the American colleges show over last year, due to the war. At Harvard where the normal registration is 6666 this year there will be 1500 less. At Yale where the normal registration is 3500 there will be less than 2000. Amherst will be from 20 to 40 per cent less. At Dartmouth the entrance numbers will be less than 500 while last year there were over 1500, and the same conditions are true at all the others.

EXETER

Exeter, Sept. 7.—Superintendent of Schools Max A. Brooks, who has had charge of the French department at the Plymouth Summer school has returned to Exeter, and is attending to the opening of the school year next Monday. He will begin his third year here. It was through his efforts that the mechanical training force and the vocational class were established at the high school and medical inspection instituted in the schools. Since coming here he has had his district increased by the addition of Kensington, the district now comprising Exeter, Hampton Falls, Newfields and Kensington.

The teaching staff as announced by Superintendent Brooks today is as follows:

High school—Harry B. Walker, headmaster; Willard L. Rowe, Marion Danah, Mildred Diman, Henrietta T. Scott, Roxie O'Connor, Ralph L. Bissell, M. Jennie Keenan, Frances M. Dearborn, Olive Avery.

County Street—Anne J. Davis, principal; Christine A. Mitchell, Mary E. Webster, Elsie Busswell.

Hill Place—Winifred D. Hunt, principal; Marianna Scammon, Laura Goodwin.

Winter Street—Alice E. Fox, principal; Anne M. Courtney, Elizabeth Kimball, A. Gertrude Stefaul.

School Street—Alla M. Horne, Hazel Hale.

Park Street—Leila J. Phair.

Supervisors—A. McLehert, music; Edith M. Patten, art.

Miss O'Connor, a graduate from Radcliffe, is a resident of Exeter, who returns from teaching in the west. She was for three years a teacher in the Robinson seminary. Miss Olive Avery is a graduate from Dorchester, Mass., high school and also from the Keene normal school. She did her practice work in the junior high school of Keene and will carry on that kind of work here.

Ralph S. Bissell, who has been engaged for the manual training department at the high school will also teach the school athletics, was a gold medal man at the graduation exercises at the New Hampshire college last June. This medal is given for all round excellence in studies as well as athletics.

Miss Elsie Busswell, who will have charge of Grade three at the Court street school, is a graduate from the Newburyport, Mass., training school and recently a student at the Plymouth Normal school. Her home is in Salisbury, Mass.

Miss Anna Scammon, daughter of John Scammon of Exeter, will succeed Miss Fronte E. Towle, who is unable to resume her work here owing to ill health. Miss Scammon will have fourth grade work at the Hill Place school. She is a graduate from the Wheelock Training school of Boston and last year taught at the Newfields primary school.

Miss Elizabeth Kimball, a daughter of George L. Kimball, of Exeter, last year substituted for Miss Welch, who was compelled to resign on account of illness. Miss Kimball is a graduate from the Plymouth Normal school, and is a teacher of successful experience in Durham.

Miss Hazel Hale of the School street school is from Tilton, and was graduated from the Plymouth Normal school last June.

Miss Leila J. Phair of Durham at the Park street school had been a student at Plymouth for several summers and is holder of a state certificate. She will succeed Miss Agnes Sullivan who has been chosen as model and critic teacher at the Plymouth Normal school.

Teachers in the other towns are: Kensington—Mrs. Bartha M. Wenzel; North school—Miss Carrie A. Noble; East school—Miss Eunice L. Evans; West school—Miss Evans takes the place of Miss Ruth Evans who enters the state college this fall to take a course in domestic arts.

Newfields—Miss Mary L. Pollard of Dover, Newham; Miss Rita Haselton of Exeter, primary; Miss Haselton succeeds Miss Scammon who will teach this year in Exeter. Like Miss Scammon, Miss Haselton is a graduate of the Keene Normal school. Miss Pollard was a student there for this summer.

Hampton Falls—North school, Miss Gladys Murray of Berlin; East school, Miss Edna M. Kimball of Farmington.

South school, Miss Myra A. Jewell of Stratham; graduate of Robinson seminary; Misses Murray, Kimball and Jewell are all graduates of the Plymouth Normal school class of 1917.

John O. Caverhill, a former employee of the New England Telephone Co., has enlisted with the Princess Patricia Light Infantry, and is now expediting an early call to France.

ON WHEATRESS BAYS

POST TOASTIES

(Made of Corn)

Miss Catherine Novell of Main street is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Cardow in Manchester.

Selectedman Clarence Gitchell has returned from a hunting trip at Little Bear's Head.

A practice run was made by the Eagle steamer last evening, the course being up High street. This custom will be continued each month.

Rev. Charles E. White of the Congregationalist of Boston, will preach at the First Congregational church Sunday.

The regular prayer meeting will be held Friday evening and the sessions of Sunday school will begin on Sunday.

NORTH KITTERY

Services for Sunday, Sept. 9, of the People's Society will be held in the new building. Every one invited to attend. All are welcome. Preaching by the pastor, Rev. Herbert W. Brooks.

Morning worship with sermon at 10:45. Subject: "The Christian's Ministry and the Church of Today, and Their Relations to Christ's Resurrection, Text: Acts: 31 and 32. Him hath God exalted with his right hand to be a Prince and a Savior, for to give repentance to Israel, and forgiveness of sins, and we are his witnesses of these things." Evening service at 7:30. Sunday school directly following the morning service. Many new members will join the Sunday school. Pulpit to be one of them.

A large congregation is expected at the Sunday services of The People's Society. The pastor, Rev. Herbert W. Brooks, is an able preacher and his sermons are inspiring and far reaching, very deep and yet very comprehensive, and carefully selected from the Bible and applied to everyday life in a manner that sets forth Christianity in the daily proper way.

There will be an entertainment in the new building of the People's Society, Sept. 13, and extensive plans for its success are underway at the present time.

The Portsmouth navy yard must keep pace with the other stations.

Why head and oil paint holds.

Examine an unpainted board thru a microscope. Observe the innumerable minute wood pores which once contained sap.

Into these tiny wood pores white lead paint sinks. When dry it is thus actually rooted or anchored to the wood by thousands of hooks—so firmly anchored that no stress of grueling weather can tear it loose.

For paint to enter the wood pores the particles of white lead must be extremely fine.

Dutch Boy Red Seal White-Lead is so fine that by actual test it will sift thru a silk screen having 27,000 meshes to the square inch.

Pure linseed oil holds the particles of Dutch Boy White-Lead together inseparably when dried on the building. Then this paint is a weather-proof protection and a mantle of beauty for your house.

It may be tinted any color desired. For years it will remain as fresh as when applied. It will not crack nor scale. It is rooted to your buildings.

Come to our headquarters for good materials.

For further information about Dutch Boy White-Lead, contact your painter or paint dealer or write for booklet.

BROADEN FIELD OF ENDEAVORS IN WAR WORK

Note sounded at Field Meeting of Federal Women's Club.

Witness Told of Prussian Warfare.

Durham, Sept. 7.—The broadening of the field of endeavor and the bringing of every possible ounce of weight to bear upon war work through the leadership of the American Red Cross, is the early note sounded by the Federal Women's Club.

In the address of welcome, on behalf of the Durham Woman's club, Mrs. O'Kane was most cordial. Interesting reference was made in the atmosphere in which the work of the club is forwarded and to the efforts made by the members to do their bit along Red Cross lines.

Mrs. James W. Remick of Concord, first vice president of the state organization, responded and incidentally paid glowing tribute to the state college which has faithfully taught the value of preparedness, the principle of food conservation and has contributed a large number of men to the fighting forces of Uncle Sam.

President, Ralph D. Hetzel, A. B., LL.D., president of the New Hampshire college, extended greeting in which he asked the full cooperation of the women's clubs in carrying out the work of the college, which is training young men and women for leadership.

The principal addresses of the afternoon were made by the Countess de Turczynowicz, who knows through bitter experience the kind of warfare waged by the Prussians, for it was under her roof at Suwalki, on the eastern front, that Von Hindenburg made headquarters, and there with members of her family she was kept prisoner for more than seven months.

The Countess is American born and the wife of a Polish nobleman who is fighting with the Russian army, if he is still alive, for she is fearful that harm has befallen him, no word having reached her since January, when he was at Odessa.

Von Hindenburg is a beast and a brute, the Countess declared in a brief interview. "This man, this god of the German war machine, is a great bulking brute of a man, without decency or manners."

During the horrible months before she made a thrilling escape with her three children, who are here with her, she saw the country about her place devastated, families scattered to the four winds, children maimed, mothers and daughters degraded and fathers, brothers, sons and husbands slaughtered.

Experiences which have silvered her hair have made of her eyes wells of conflicting emotions which speak of the horrors through which she has passed and of the depth of feeling of which she is capable.

The Countess, since reaching this country has allied herself with the American Red Cross and comes to Durham officially to represent that great organization. She is author of "When the Prussians Came to Poland," and is a wonderful speaker, her opening address yesterday afternoon holding her audience breathless. Even in America trouble has pursued her, her life having been attempted while she was in California.

The program for the two days' session is one of the strongest that has been arranged for a field meeting and has attracted here many of the leading women of the state, almost every seat being occupied in the gymnasium when the session was officially launched at 2 o'clock by the state president, Mrs. Alpha Haven Harriman of Laconia.

Mrs. W. C. O'Kane, president of the Durham Woman's Club, is in charge of the local arrangements, and it is at once apparent that everything possible has been done for the pleasure and comfort of the clubwomen.

The visiting clubwomen are comfortably quartered in the various dormitories, and meals throughout the two days will be served in the girls' dining room at Smith hall.

The social features include a reception and automobile trips to various places of interest, including the house of Gen. John Sullivan of Revolutionary fame and the Madbury greenhouses, one of which, the rose house—is the largest in the world, being a quarter of a mile long and 80 feet wide.

The Woman's Club here at Durham has well up to 100 active members, and is doing a splendid work under the leadership of Mrs. O'Kane, whose assistant officers are: Vice president, Mrs. Charles Stimmers; secretary,

DRAFTED MEN GET FIRST LESSON IN SOLDIERING

Camp at Ayre Rapidly Taking Shape as Men Arrive—Maine and New Hampshire to be Heavy Artillery

(By Associated Press)
Ayer, Mass., Sept. 6.—While 400 men of the new national army clad in their new uniforms were being given their first training in soldiering, the second 600 were arriving and being given their first inspection and introduction to the camp. Those of yesterday were out being shown "about face" and other marching terms. Company streets were being laid up and the whole camp is rapidly assuming a true military air. It is considered remarkable that up to the present time there have been no rebellions of the drafted men as a physically unit.

The announcement of the composition of the new army was outlined tonight, the 301 infantry to be from Boston and surrounding towns, 302 field artillery from Vermont, 303 heavy artillery Maine and New Hampshire, and headquarters and field signal corps Lawrence and Lowell.

to superintend its enforcement.

invites Arguments.

Dr. Garfield opened up large offices today and is getting his organization started. Pending a complete organization, he said, the prices fixed by the President for bituminous and anthracite coal at the mines would be retained and he suggested that contracts be made subject to revision. Operators who have protested against the price fixed by the White House are invited to submit their arguments in writing for the consideration of Dr. Garfield.

Claims by operators, miners, dealers and consumers are all to be given careful attention. Dr. Garfield states he made no reference to the likelihood of adopting drastic measures such as the commandeering of output, for the purpose of reselling it, and it is understood that such a course will not be adopted unless efforts toward a voluntary agreement prove a failure.

CONFER MOCK DECORATION ON COWARDS

Amsterdam, Netherlands, Sept. 7.—"The Order of the Fighting Blue" is a new mock decoration which is conferred by the Royal Belgian National Committee upon their well-to-do coin-payers of military age, who, after fleeing from the German invader, have since preferred safety and ease abroad to the hardships of trench life on the Yser.

Many Belgians in this country have received such an order, which consists of a medal showing a lying hare, with an uncomplimentary inscription. It is accompanied by an artistically illuminated charter, by which "We, King of the Tribe of Cowards, bestow this decoration upon our trusty and well-beloved friend, on his attack of the gold shivers, which is hereby certified as incurable."

PROTEST ELECTION OF OFFICIAL

(By Associated Press)
Mexico City, Sept. 7.—A commission has arrived from Campeche to protest to President Carranza against the election of General Joaquin Mucel as governor of that state. The commission asks that the elections be declared void on the grounds that General Mucel did not separate himself from his military command at sufficient time before the elections to comply with the requirements of the new constitution.

INTEREST IN NEW ARMOR MATERIAL

(By Associated Press)
The Hague, Netherlands, Sept. 7.—The Dutch General Staff, as well as one or two foreign military attaches, are evincing considerable interest in a new armor material devised by an inventor here. The principle on which it is based is that of distributing the pressure of projectiles and explosives as rapidly as possible. The armor consists of a system of double plates with more or less space between them filled with a material that is very stiff but soft and is of extremely fine grain and at the same time, extraordinarily hard.

GOVERNMENT TO CONTROL FREIGHT RATES

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Sept. 6.—The control of all ocean freight rates is proposed by the Shipping Board who have announced that they will take over all ocean quarters and that the new scale will mean a reduction of from 50 to 65 per cent.

PHYSICIAN A SUICIDE

(By Associated Press)
Springfield, Mass., Sept. 6.—The body of Dr. Paul M. Moxon, a well known physician of Brooklyn, N. Y., was found in some bushes near the cemetery here today. Knotted about his neck was a necktie. He had been visiting his father, Rev. Philip Moxon here and the medical examiner claimed that death was due to suicide. He had been overworked in the infantile paralysis scare of last summer and had not recovered.

TURKISH WOMEN TO LOSE THEIR VEILS

(By Associated Press)
Geneva, Switzerland, Sept. 6.—Women's veils and the tapestries of private homes are to be utilized in the Holy Land for the manufacture of sandbags for the Turkish trenches, according to the Constantinople correspondent of the Geneva Tribune.

The Turkish authorities in Palestine and Syria have informed the local officers of Beirut and other towns, the correspondent says, that 1,500,000 sandbags are required in the trenches at once for defensive purposes, inasmuch as sacks and cotton cloths are lacking. "All silks and tapestries" in dwellings are being commandeered, and soldiers in Syria have been told by their superiors they may remove the veils from any women whom they may encounter in the streets.

PLANNING FOR RHEIMS CATHEDRAL

(By Associated Press)
Paris, Sept. 6.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—Suggestions are being publicly advanced as to the destiny of Rheims cathedral. Discussion centers on whether it should be restored as a cathedral, transformed into some sort of a national memorial dedicated to those who have lost their lives in the war, or left as a monument to Teutonic barbarism. The question cannot be definitely decided perhaps until the German "guns" have been driven from Fort Brionville and the final condition of the historic town after so many months of bombardment can be ascertained.

Meanwhile Cardinal Luçon, Archbishop of Rheims, who has remained beside his beloved cathedral throughout the bombardment, is firmly determined that Rheims shall always have its temple. "We shall repair the Cathedral," he has said, "it must be so. We have casts of its statues, and colored photographs of its glass. Our architect, at risk of his life, is working under the damaged arches to save what can be saved."

"The day will come when the doors will again be opened for religious services, for I hold fast to one thing above all, that the cathedral where the first Christian king of France was christened shall remain the first church of France."

"I protest with all my energy, and I shall never cease protesting, against any project that seeks to make Rheims cathedral into some kind of a museum or necropolis. Those who have such ideas do not consider what Rheims is for the Church, for France, and for the whole world. All such proposals are impossible."

"With one suggestion only, that has been made, can I associate myself with all my heart. Let there be every year, a solemn celebration in the cathedral which has suffered so from German rage, in memory of those who have died for the safety of the country, and the freedom of the world. The whole Catholic world would join to found such a perpetual mass, and I hope that God will spare me to celebrate it myself for the first time."

TO SPEND MILLIONS ON NITRATE PLANTS

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Sept. 6.—The plans for the establishment of two nitrate plants by the government at a cost of about $3,000,000 were outlined here today by the special committee who have been making an investigation. West Virginia or that section of the country was recommended as the most suitable location for the plant.

ELEVEN BILLION DOLLAR BILL PASSED CONGRESS

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Sept. 6.—The great war credit bill carrying $11,538,945,460 in bonds and certificates passed the House today unanimously. There were no material amendments offered and the Senate will take up the bill as soon as it dispenses of the war tax measure.

WANT AGREEMENT FOR NO STRIKES DURING WAR

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Sept. 6.—Manufacturing representatives proposed to the National Defence League today, that a conference of the manufacturers and labor unions be held and that an agreement be made not have any strikes of lock-outs during the period of the war.

WILL NOT FIX PRICES FOR MEAT

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Sept. 6.—Price fixing of meat and dairy products would have no place in the government plan for food conservation, said Mr. Hoover, the controller of food, to the National Dairy convention today. Mr. Hoover said that as long as there was an increasing demand and a constantly decreasing supply the meat prices would continue to soar, but it was hoped that by stabilizing the other foods there would be some relief.

Slurring the Pension System.

In some quarters it is being urged that steps be taken for the "reconstruction," physical and economic, of soldiers and sailors disabled in the war, the idea being to teach these men trades and occupations by which they may be enabled to earn their living. It is claimed that many men who will be unable to follow their former pursuits because of the disabilities incurred in the service could by proper instruction be placed on a self-sustaining basis, much to their personal benefit and the benefit of the country.

It is pointed out that work of this kind is being done in other countries with good results. The men are taught trades or trained for clerical work or other employment and are thus enabled to pay their way in life without becoming dependent, when in most cases they would be almost wholly dependent were it not for this training.

But while the idea has some commendable features and may be worth trying to a reasonable extent, there should be no effort to compel disabled soldiers and sailors to work for a living and thus rid the government of the duty of seeing that they are properly provided for. In connection with this scheme and with the plan of insuring the lives of the men who go to the front there is more or less slurring of the pension system, which is represented as making the recipients of pensions little better than paupers. But the fact is that it does nothing of the sort. It is altogether honorable for the government to pay pensions to the men who have suffered disability in its service, and it is just as honorable to receive these pensions. There should be no further insinuation that there is anything undignified in the pension system. It has served the country well from the beginning and it is by no means certain that it has outlived its usefulness.

It might possibly be well to establish homes and schools for the training of crippled soldiers and sailors, as suggested. The danger is that the scheme would require so much machinery, so many commissions and such large staffs of instructors and "experts" of various brands that the cost would be greater than the value of the product.

In most cases men disabled in military service will be disposed to make the most of such facilities as they still retain when they find themselves again under conditions of peace, and will be able with such pensions as they deserve to make their way in the world. The thought that there is any element of charity in a soldier's pension should not be entertained for a moment. The most liberal pension is only partial payment of a debt which can never be fully paid, and is nothing for the government or the recipient to be ashamed of.

If the pension system can be improved upon, well and good. But it is not necessary to malign it in advocating other systems which may prove to be no better, if as good.

At a time when the government and the people are under an unprecedented burden of expense it will strike many as a little superfluous to bestowing footpads to the American soldiers in France by the $20,000 worth. Of course this is not done at the expense of the government, but it would seem that people having money to spend for such a purpose might put it to better use just now.

The president is in hearty sympathy with the American Alliance for Labor and Democracy, which stands loyally behind the government in its time of trial. Very different is his feeling toward the pacifist conglomeration which has been scouring the country to find a place in which it would be permitted to meet.

It is apparent that this paper's call for contributions to further the work of the Y. M. C. A. at Fort Stark struck a responsive chord. The money is coming in at a very gratifying rate and the indications are that the dream of a suitable equipment for the work there will soon become a reality.

This is an important period for owners of dogs that have not been licensed for the year. The time is up for the settlement of this matter without trouble and extra expense, and there should be prompt action on the part of those who have neglected this duty till the present time.

Far from pleasant is the news that the plant of the New Castle Shoe Company is to be closed down. The industrial gains of this region of late have been of the most encouraging character, but while business is coming the people dislike to see any of it going.

It is hardly probable that the price of eggs will reach a dollar a dozen, notwithstanding the prediction to that effect. Most people will stop eating them before they reach that figure, and they ought to.

Russia is in a bad way indeed. The latest from Petrograd is the report of a conspiracy to arrest the provisional government. That is a very ambitious program, and one that will probably not be carried out right away.

ODD LADIES HOLD OUTING

The Odd Ladies held a most enjoyable outing at the home of Mrs. Merritt Delano on Northwest street on Thursday afternoon and evening. At noon an excellent dinner consisting of chicken patties, potatoes, vegetable salad, pastry, coffee and all the fixings was served.

The members passed the day in knitting for the Red Cross. During the afternoon a business meeting was held followed by a social hour and the guests greatly enjoyed vocal selections rendered by Miss Jeannette Delano. At six o'clock a baked bean supper was served and the guests thoroughly enjoyed every minute of their time and voted the hostess one of the best of entertainers. There were twenty-five members present.

ELKS TO HOLD FOOD CONSERVATION MEETING

Brother Fred Harper, Grand Exalted Ruler, has issued a special circular on the subject of food conservation. In this he urges that the first meeting in September be designated as "Food Conservation Meeting" and that special effort be made to arouse the interest of all Elks in this important subject. If possible, a speaker having intimate knowledge of this subject will be secured to tell of the food situation, and to make suggestions as to how each family may help in this important war movement.

MADE AN INSPECTION OF YARD AND NAVAL PRISON

Captain William P. Rush, commandant of the 1st Naval District, which includes this yard, made an official visit to the local yard on Thursday and in company with Captain W. J. Howard made an inspection of the yards that have been converted into coast guard boats.

He also made an inspection of the naval prison which is now under the command of Thomas Mott Osborne, who holds a rank of Lieutenant Commander in the naval reserves.

Captain Rush returned to the Charlestown yard Thursday evening.

MATE BALKED OWN GUN CREW

Two Officers and Two Sailors Taken From Ship Off Jersey Coast.

Philadelphia, Sept. 6.—Two officers and two members of the crew of a steamship engaged in work for the United States government were removed from the vessel off the Delaware capes tonight.

They are accused of having interfered with the vessel's gun crew while the ship was going through the U-boat zone in its voyage across the Atlantic, and on its way back. It was said the vessel was engaged in carrying supplies to the American troops in France.

One of the prisoners is alleged to have threatened the gunners with iron shackles if they did not go below decks, and to have said that he hoped the ship would be torpedoed.

The men were taken to Fort Mott. They are under strict guard awaiting action by the authorities. The prisoners are John Robinson, first mate; Earl Lockesby, second mate; and two pump men, Foss and Jackson.

Robinson was born in Norway, but is a naturalized American citizen. Lockesby lives in Chicago. Foss is a native of Sweden, but has taken out American citizenship papers. Jackson is a subject of Denmark.

The vessel was approaching the capes when the lookout on a patrol boat saw distress rockets shooting from the ship. The patrol sped to the steamship, the officers boarded her and a few minutes later removed the four men.

Robinson is said to have been the principal offender against the gun crew. It was he, the government officials allege, who threatened to put the ship's chief gunner in irons while the vessel was going through the submarine zone. Robinson would not allow the gunners on the bridge, it is charged, and he is said to have threatened the lookout with irons if he did not go below decks. He was questioned as to his conduct, and he said, according to federal officers, "I hope the ship will be torpedoed."

NAVY NOTES

Will Open Boston Prison.

It has been found necessary by the navy department to put the old naval prison at Boston navy yard in commission again. The prison will accommodate 250 prisoners and was closed about five years ago on account of its sanitary conditions and the prisoners all transferred to Portsmouth.

Appointed Quartermaster.

C. C. Gilliam of New Castle has been appointed quartermaster electrician in the Industrial Department at the Portsmouth navy yard and assigned to inspection duty.

RAILROAD NOTES

The freight clerks of the Boston and Maine in this city will enjoy their last outing of the season at Great Bay on Sunday.

The Public Service Commission gave a hearing yesterday morning on the petition of citizens of Hooksett asking that the 4 o'clock Boston train stop at Hooksett. General Passenger Agent C. M. Burt and Supt. H. C. Robinson appeared in the interests of the road but the petitioners were not represented at the hearing.

John Hennessey is acting as second assistant ticket agent at the Portsmouth depot for a short period.

The St. Johns express passing through here on Thursday night had special cars with a large crew of lumbermen for Pt. Kent, Me.

The motion power department of the New Haven has received from the Readville shops two Baldwin Mogul engines which have been rebuilt into grasshopper superchargers for Boston & Hartford service.

Representatives of the motive power department, Boston & Albany, are making coal tests on all superheating engines operated on the Highland circuit.

I. W. W. SEIZED BY U. S.

Black Bag in Haywood's Office Contains Revelations.

Federal Grand Jury to Probe All Anti-War Propaganda.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—The Federal grand jury has convened in Chicago and will act upon all the evidence against Socialists and I. W. W. gathered in the raids throughout the Nation yesterday.

The enormous task of sifting all this evidence and of prosecuting will be speeded by a corps of expert assistants to Atty. Gen. Gregory. This sensational information developed late today, after it became known that the jury had a black bag which contained the secrets of the I. W. W. and which was seized yesterday in the raid on the home of William D. Haywood.

This bag contains the names of men affiliated with the party, whose identities had never before been revealed to the Government. It also held the plans for a big coup which the organization contemplated, it is said. Just what this mysterious scheme might be, the officials would not say. It was reported, however, that a general strike to cripple mobilization of troops had been planned.

It was denied vigorously that any evidence, gathered in the black bag or swept in from any other source, pointed to plans for a strike at the various cantonments.

"Was any intrigue against the Rockford cantonment disclosed," one of those in authority in Mr. Clapbaugh's office was asked.

"No, absolutely no," he asserted. "Even the I. W. W. wouldn't strike there, for it would be too dangerous. The soldiers would stand them against the wall and shoot them."

Federal Government officers armed with search warrants tonight raided three additional Socialist publishing offices and a book store for radical publications in Chicago and seized considerable quantities of literature and plates alleged to hinder the Government in carrying on the war.

The newspaper and publishing offices raided were:

Arbeiter Zeitung, a German newspaper plant where the American Socialists, National organ of that party, is published.

Social Demokraten, a radical publication of which Frank Horop is editor. Radnicka-Straza offices, which is headquarters of the Croatian branch of the South Slavic Socialist Federation of United States Publications. The Radical Book Shop.

An unusual number of the Government's legal advisers are already in Chicago to help in the big fight against sedition and treason. Besides Oliver E. Pagan, the indictment expert, and Asst. Atty. Gen. F. C. Daly of Indianapolis, there are Frank K. Nepecker of Salt Lake City, also an Assistant Attorney General, and two others whose names Dist. Atty. Clynne will not divulge.

It was decided that as the offense upon which individuals will be indicted are Federal, it would be simpler to bring all the evidence before one Grand Jury, so Chicago becomes the center of the fight.

POWERFUL PLANES IN GERMAN RAIDS

Paris, Sept. 7.—The Gotha airplanes with which the Germans have been bombarding England are biplanes, fitted with two motors, developing 450 horse power, and with two tractor propellers, according to Georges Prade, the French aviation expert. They carry three persons, the pilot, a bomb thrower, and a machine gun operator. All can serve the quick fliers if they are attacked, as three of these guns are carried.

M. Prade, who has been watching the machines at the front, says that these machines, if passing at an altitude of 15,000 feet, for instance, on the attack, can return at an altitude of 20,000 feet without their bombs, their super-compressed motors giving them full power at great heights.

$225,000,000 ASKED FOR DESTROYERS

Washington, Sept. 7.—Secretary McAdoo yesterday submitted to the House an estimate providing for $225,000,000 required by the Navy department for acquiring and providing facilities for the expeditions constructed of additional destroyers for the fiscal year 1918.

The heavy demands for this form of fighting craft in the anti-submarine patrol work in European waters has caused the secretary of the navy to determine on an increase in the destroyer building program.

GERMANY STRENGTHENS AVIATION CORPS

She Anticipates America's Preparation for Flying.

(By Associated Press)

Paris, Sept. 7.—The entrance of America into the war and the probability that it soon would be lending the allies tremendous aid in the aerial department of the struggle has led Germany to reorganize and strengthen its own aviation branches materially, according to the Temps. The reorganization does not date exclusively from the break with the United States but rather from the battle of the Somme, but it has been accelerated and intensified by the report that hundreds if not thousands of airplanes with the corresponding aviators to man them are soon to be supplied to the entente forces.

The reorganization of the German aerial forces has taken the form of erecting four principal divisions into which the fliers are now placed, roughly as follows:

1. Army squadrons or army fliers' division which are directly under the command of the army chief of aviation and the work of which consists mainly of expeditions far to the rear of the lines. They are also employed for bombardments, night flights, photographic work, and the airplanes employed are of the most varied type, according to the character of the work they are to do.

Recently captured prisoners say that a newly constructed biplane of the Albatross type is vastly superior to anything heretofore used by these squadrons. It is equipped with a 260-horse power motor and attains a speed of from 100 to 115 miles an hour. It can rise to an altitude of more than 2000 yards in nine minutes, and carries two machine guns. The machines travel in groups of six or eight, according to the position and needs of the army to which they are attached.

2. Corps squadrons or troop fliers which are attached to the staff headquarters of the various German armies and which are commanded by captains. These generally remain within the sector of the armies to which they are attached and are used in general for reconnaissances, photographing the trenches, batteries and making patrol flights.

3. Hunting squadrons, as they are called both by the French and the Germans are the main attacking instruments of the German air forces, and for chasing enemy machines that venture over their lines. They are also in charge of the destruction of stationary balloons.

On the western front it is estimated there are about forty of these squadrons with about a dozen machines to each. Others in the same category have as their duty the protection of the large German cities that lie within airplane flight of the French and English. The pilots of these squadrons are carefully chosen from among the best of the German aviators, and their exploits are encouraged by frequent mention in the general staff reports.

4. Battle squadrons of floatplanes are under the direction of general headquarters and shift from army to army to carry out bombardments on military establishments behind the front, as well as upon open towns.

There are three of these squadrons now. Formerly there were more, but the others have been dismembered and their units attached to other arms of the service. Squadrons one and two are generally transported by train from place to place wherever they are most needed.

There are from forty to fifty machines in each squadron which when complete and ready for action is divided into four or five sections. Each airplane is armed with two machine guns and each carries bombs weighing from 20 to 100 pounds each. Some are said to carry bombs that weigh more than 200 pounds.

While perfecting their service in the air, the Germans have also bettered their anti-aircraft measures and their weapons. The 77-millimeter guns have given way to rapid-fire guns of 105 millimeter calibre, and at certain points along the front they use shrapnel guns of 240 millimetre size.

They possess special bullets for the destruction of captive balloons, but in many instances have used them with great cruelty against opponents in airplanes. At least one squadron captain, a Lieutenant Eilers, finally forbade his men to carry these bullets with them unless they were definitely charged with riddling balloons.

The Germans, it is said, are constantly putting new types of machines into the field. The famous Taube went out of style long ago, and it has now been followed by the even more famous Fokker, which less than a year ago was considered the last and final word in attacking airplanes. Its inventor, a Dutchman, is now said to be devoting himself to the perfection of a machine with a 200-horsepower motor which will break all records for speed and efficiency.

Today the Trumpler seems to be the favorite machine, though those with 160-horsepower motors are not fast enough to suit, and yet the machines will hardly stand up under a heavier motor. The raids on London were accomplished with Gotha machines, but these, though so recent that little is known about them in France, are already giving way to faster airplanes, especially to powerful Rumpler biplanes which have tremendous speed and firing power.

Two Navy Men Go to Workhouse for Masquerading to Sell Beer.

Edwards Woods and Albert Gilles, nineteen, sailors of the U. S. S. Monetta, lying off West Eighty-sixth street were sent to the workhouse for sixteen days by Magistrate Gelsmar in Coney Island court. They were convicted of disorderly conduct, having served sailors in uniform with beer.

The prisoners were in citizens' clothes. They said they had rented them from a merchant on Sands street, Brooklyn.

The magistrate sentenced Joseph Bresnahan and Frank Boyd of No. 3 Mermald avenue, Coney Island, to 90 days for selling whiskey to sailors in uniform.

FINE PROGRAM
FOR S. S.
CONVENTION

Preparations are already under way for the forty-fourth annual convention of the New Hampshire Sunday School association, to be held at Lebanon, Oct. 10, 11 and 12. The program includes some noteworthy features.

The convention will have a series of Bible hours, conducted by Dr. Milton S. Littlefield of New York city. Another important and valuable number on the program is a series of four Teacher Training sessions, which will be led by some one well fitted for that work. Connected with the convention, there will be the School of Methods, which will meet in four sessions on Thursday afternoon, Oct. 11, and six sessions on Friday morning, Oct. 12.

There will be conferences for Elementary, Secondary, Adult Class and Home Department workers, as well as for Sunday School and County officers.

The convention has been arranged so that the last day will fall on a holiday, Oct. 12. Great preparations are being made for this day's celebration. There will be a big Sunday school parade, exclusively for men, at 3 o'clock. Following the parades there will be five mass meetings, one for children, one for older boys, one for older girls, one for women and one for men. Governor Keyes will review the parade and address the men's meeting.

included in the list of prize winners was Mrs. Dorothy Holland of Portsmouth who won the prize of having the most original costume. Carl O'Mara of Newmarket carried off the honors for having the most grotesque costume.

It was estimated that fully twenty-five thousand people attended the carnival.

Fort Constitution, N. H. Sealed proposals for six barracks and other buildings here will be received until 12 M., September 10, 1917. Information on application to Quartermaster.

"EVERYWOMAN" THEME QUEST OF EACH OF "WEAKER SEX"
EVERYWHERE FOR LOVE

Henry W. Savage's mighty spectacle, "Everywoman" will be offered at the Colonial Theatre, this (Friday) evening. The scenery, electrical effects, orchestra, chorus, and for the most part, the principals are the same as they were last year, and where change have been made the management declares an improvement has resulted.

That "Everywoman" promulgates a high moral lesson while affording entertainment has added much to the public interest in this strange dramatic product. It offers one of the most colorful stage pictures which has been seen by the present generation.

The beauty contingent in "Everywoman" is said to rival that of any similar coterie of pulchritude in the current musical comedies. The characters, Youth, Beauty, and Modesty are impersonated by a trio of bewitching little beauties. One of the scenes in the play is a graphic reproduction of the intimate world of a big New York playhouse where a rehearsal is being conducted. A full chorus, such as appears in the average musical comedy figures in this scene.

LARGE THROG
SEES CARNIVAL

Hampton Beach, Sept. 6.—All events up to three o'clock today were postponed on account of the weather. The chief event was the parade of decorated automobiles which was to have been held in connection with the trade and civics parade.

The speakers at the afternoon exercises were Hon. Edwin C. Beane, secretary of State, and Col. John H. Bartlett of Portsmouth.

Following the speaking the half-mile swimming race was held and was won by Albert McKinnon of Amesbury, James Sheehan of Exeter, second, and Eldred Larkin of Andover, third.

This evening at 9 o'clock occurred the pageant of the crowning of the King and Queen of the carnival; the Queen being Miss Madeline Higgins of Haverhill and the King, Albert Kranz of Amesbury. The other parts of the pageant were taken by the young lady contestants in the carnival.

Included in the list of prize winners was Mrs. Dorothy Holland of Portsmouth who won the prize of having the most original costume. Carl O'Mara of Newmarket carried off the honors for having the most grotesque costume.

It was estimated that fully twenty-five thousand people attended the carnival.

GERMANY

(By Associated Press)

Amsterdam, Netherlands, Sept. 7.—Cork is at a premium in Germany, as the country does not produce any and the entire blockade has interrupted all channels of supply. Used Corks, especially those of champagne bottles are eagerly purchased and they bring high prices.

Two chemists of Saxony have applied for a patent for making artificial cork from a tough species of road-stools, which grows in profusion in the Saxon forests.

London, Sept. 7.—It is related by the Amsterdam correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company that when Emperor William visited Brussels last week on his way to Flanders front, the populace refused to comply with a request of the authorities, to display flags.

Instead they remained indoors and drew the window blinds, on which they inscribed: "Closed for National Mourning." The streets were deserted except for the soldiers and police.

UNITED STATES WILL HAVE NO MORE PEACE TALK

Washington, Sept. 6.—The United States government is done with peace talk and thought until such time as Germany meets American requirements for ending the war.

The state department made this clear today. A high official expressed himself forcibly as displeased at continuous peace speculation. He believed the press ought to talk war and the people boost war at this time.

As part of its program, the state department opened its first official discussion with the Japanese mission today, concerning greater co-operation between the two nations.

Germany will soon make another peace proposal, diplomats in touch with foreign affairs declared today. And it will be a proposal tempered in its outlines by the more radical of German Reichstag elements.

The Erzberger-Scheidemann group is taking advantage of President Wilson's peace views and internal reform ideas to further its plans. This group is expected to force the new proposal with opening of the Reichstag.

To Overthrow Michaelis. Some diplomats declared that the proposed Erzberger-Scheidemann efforts will overthrow the bureaucratic Chancellor Michaelis, and put Germany well along the way to democratization.

This government has let it be known officially that what it wants of Germany is a change in the conscience and character of its institutions. While it does not insist that the Kaiser shall abdicate, it does insist that there shall be no peace conference until the Kaiser's power has been effectively cut off and until the German government is synonymous with the German people.

Popular voting and direct responsibility of the government machine to the people are considered as steps necessary before any peace program can be considered.

While the general view is that such a reform in Germany would quickly set to start peace negotiations, some officials declare the military situation might be such as to make continued fighting imperative for a time at least. Japan probably will offer assistance in ship construction if the United States will modify its steel embargo.

Japan may propose that her army take a hand along the east front to roll back the Teutons pressing on Russia.

Still further evidence of the war business on hand came in an official intimation that if Holland yielded to Germany's pressure for use of Antwerp as a naval base, the United States and the allies would regard the waters there as belligerent and take forceful action to thwart Germany's move.

The question of further war aid fairly is still open, apparently, and the government indicated that for the present it will maintain its aid to Italy on the same level as recently.

SLAVS EASY PREY FOR SPIES

Petrograd, Sept. 6.—The German soldier who is fond of fraternizing is more often a spy, according to a diary found on a captured Teuton sergeant, says a Petrograd Gazette correspondent at the front.

Only those German soldiers qualified for their activities in observing are allowed to fraternize with their Russian opponents, this diary shows. The document disclosed that its writer had been supplied with several bottles of vodka, which with characteristic German thoroughness had been specially brewed for distribution among the Russians.

The diary contained a minute record of the fraternizers' acts and observations, carefully headed, subheaded and numbered. Among the headings were: "Questions and Answers About an Armistice," "Conditions of the Russian Army," "Attitude Towards Peace Talk," "Invitations to Future Meetings."

Among the entries were: "Russians warned us that their artillery was about to fire." "While peace poster pasted up" and "Russians report they will not listen to orders to attack us."

A story of the fraternizing along the east front is told by a Swedish Journalist. The usual daily visits were going on, he says, and all was peaceful, when the Russians suddenly began firing furiously from one section of their trenches. A German officer ran over and called out indignantly: "What do you mean by shooting with ball cartridges?"

A Russian officer explained apologetically: "The colonel has just come up for inspection, but he'll be going away in a minute."

When the Associated Press correspondent was at the front a German major told how one of his officers was shot through the leg while working in front of the trenches at a time when, by the custom of that period, neither side was supposed to fire. He made indignantly representations about it later to the Russians, and was told that "a party of high officers had visited the trenches and the soldiers had to shoot."

STRONG MEN IN RUSSIAN CABINET

(By Associated Press.) Paris, Sept. 6.—Only two or three of the men forming Kerensky's new cabinet are known outside of Russia, but one at least is very well known in Paris, as before the revolution he lived in France for nearly twelve years—Boris Savinoff, now under secretary of the Russian war department.

Boris Savinoff is 38 years old, having been born in January, 1879, at Warsaw, where his father was a magistrate. His mother belonged to an old Ukrainian family, a fact which has its importance at the present moment. Boris passed through the Warsaw high school and went to Petrograd to study law. He immediately began propaganda work—entirely of a pacifist nature—among the workers. He was arrested and shut up in Schlusselburg. His father, a man of liberal, but in no way revolutionary, tendencies, came to his aid, and his words to his son, "Whatever happens, never ask for pardon," were never forgotten by the latter.

Without trial, Savinoff was deported to Volodga, in the extreme north of European Russia, where he lived quietly with his wife and child. There he was visited by the famous "grand-mother of the Revolution," Madame Dreshkovskaya, who asked him to join a terrorist organization. After taking a year to consider, he agreed. He was ready to give up his young life (he was then not quite twenty-three) to break the Romanoff yoke. He escaped from Russia and reached Geneva, where he got in touch with the famous "Apostle" (afterwards shown by Bonaparte to be an agent of the Russian government) masquerading as a revolutionary.

Savinoff and his friends from boyhood days, Kallayeff, returned to Russia to prepare the "removal" of the prime minister, Plohe. When this was effected, it was the turn of Grand Duke Serge, and other plots followed, twenty-two in all, some successful, others failures.

Eventually, after Savinoff had taken an active part in the 1905 revolution, the day came when he was arrested and as he was shut up in the Sebastopol fortress, it seemed impossible for him to escape execution. Thanks to his brother-in-law, Silberberg, (a revolutionary assassinated later by agents of the emperor), Savinoff succeeded in escaping the very evening before he was to be executed, by means which cannot yet be described, and took refuge in France, determined to devote the rest of his life to literature.

When Azeff was dismissed, Savinoff returned to Russia, where a price had been put on his head, and passed a year hunting for the spy in order to make him pay the penalty of his treachery. But the emperor's police took care of their agent and Savinoff returned to France, unavenged. He lived at San Remo and then at Nice, giving himself up entirely to writing.

When the war broke out, he hurried to Paris and preached, with his pen, a crusade against unchained barbarism glorifying the country he loved so passionately, France in arms.

The Russian revolution took him back to his native land, where as commissioner to the armies he struggled with all his might against the disorganization which threatened to nullify the revolution's work. He was the man who had the courage, at a moment when it needed courage, to demand the restoration of the death penalty for cowards and traitors.

Gustave Hervé, editor of La Victoire, was one of Savinoff's Paris friends. He tells how Savinoff at the beginning of the war, sought his aid to be engaged in the Foreign Legion, although Russian prisons had left his health in a state that made enlistment impossible. A denunciation of young Russian revolutionaries living in Paris came to the editor to prevent Savinoff from volunteering. "Keep him in Russia, for us," they pleaded. "He is one of our greatest hopes and we will give you five hundred volunteers, in his place, although your Foreign Legion is not altogether a pleasing souvenir for us."

(For those who do not understand the last words, it may be explained that the old-time legionaries are fond of accusing Russians and Poles of enlisting for the sake of being fed and clothed.)

Gustave Hervé explains that he had never felt like asking Savinoff any details about his participation in the execution of Plohe and the Grand Duke Serge, but when Savinoff was leaving Russia last March, they had a farewell lunch together, at which no one else was present except Madame Savinoff. Savinoff then described him, in broad daylight, in a crowded St. Petersburg street, he had placed his term of criminals in position, at certain intervals, and how Georges Sazanoff (a boyhood friend of Savinoff) had thrown the bomb which destroyed the Minister's carriage, despite his armor plates, and assassinated Plohe. He told how he leaned over Sazanoff who had fainted, having been severely injured himself by the explosion, and called out "George, George!" in the now deserted street, until the chief of police came up all trembling, his teeth chattering, crazy with fear, and ordered him to move on. The execution of the Grand Duke

Serge was more dramatic. After two months of watching their opportunity, the terrorist team had its chance. The Grand Duke's carriage was approaching from the theatre, and Kallayeff was raising his arm in signal. Savinoff, a few yards away, saw Kallayeff's arm fall again. It was all over, thought Savinoff; the police escort must have noticed the gesture and known that it was a signal. But no, they had failed to observe anything and Savinoff rejoined his friend to ask why he had changed his mind.

"I couldn't do it," Kallayeff explained. "My heart failed me. By the monster's side was a little boy and a little girl. We must begin all over again."

They began again a few weeks later and this time there was no child by the Grand Duke's side. The signal was given. Kallayeff was hanged a few days later.

"And do you know," concluded Savinoff in telling the story, "who that little boy was whose life Kallayeff had spared—that young prince whom Kallayeff had been willing to kill? It was the prince of the imperial family, who, only a few months ago, fled Russia, with a revolver shot, of the famous or rather infamous Rasputin!"

BREAD CHEAPER IN ENGLAND

London, Sept. 6.—Although dependent upon the United States for wheat, the people of England are paying less for their bread and flour than are Americans.

Government control and government aid so bakers can make a reasonable profit, was the explanation given the United Press by Lord Rhonda, food controller of the empire, today.

From Sept. 17 England expects to spend $200,000,000 annually to keep bread and flour prices reasonable.

The British government has controlled the entire imported wheat trade since last October Lord Rhonda said, and since that time has sold it practically at cost, representing the price as averaged over purchases during the last 11 months. That price is considerably lower than the present market price.

"Apart from the normal peace time difference in prices between England and America, this probably explains why it is that bread and flour are sold here at lower prices than in the United States."

"I understand what has not yet been purchased on the American government's account; therefore American bread is 'doubtless' selling at a price corresponding with the present wheat quotations. When the British wheat commission commenced operations this price was $1.85 a bushel. Today it is $2.50."

"We have practically come to an end of the benefits derived from large government purchases in the past, with the result that the state now steps in to provide bread at a price within the means of our poorer classes."

"This state aid takes the form of a subsidy. As a result, we will supply our millers at a price enabling them to provide the baker after Sept. 17 with flour from which a four-pound loaf can be made and sold over the counter for a maximum price of 18 cents—and the baker will still make a reasonable profit."

From other sources in the food control department today it was estimated that the government subsidy mentioned by Lord Rhonda to preserve bread and flour prices, will total $300,000,000 a year. Other maximum prices fixed as effective after Sept. 17 are: One-pound loaf, five cents; two pounds, nine cents. These prices are an average reduction of 25 per cent over present rates.

FRANCE BUYING OLD COPPER

Paris, Sept. 6.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—France is now in the market as a purchaser of copper at home, in the shape of utensils, just as other countries have been for a long time. For the present the government is seeking principally old copper "cannibals" or liquid stills of an almost obsolete pattern that are found in some regions, although it purchases any copper object offered for sale.

Since copper stills cannot readily be melted.

THE GREAT ISSUE.

The supreme and over-shadowing issue before the American people is to win the war and secure the safety of our national life. Nothing must stand in the way of this. We face the most cruel, the most desperate and the most efficient foe that ever waged war, one whose preparation for this conflict was complete to the last detail. The war was of the Kaiser's seeking. He planned and prepared for it for years and he was the only one ready when the crisis came. Therefore, at the start, being ready, he swept everything before him and now at the close of the third year, his line is strongly entrenched in the west, where he holds Belgium and a considerable part of France, and so far the Allies have not been successful in dislodging him; except here and there. On the east, Russia is falling back. The Kaiser holds in brutal subjection ravished and ruined Serbia, Montenegro and a part of Rumania. If the drive of the Central Powers continues, they will soon lap the wheat and oil fields of the Black Sea country and then their two great needs, food and oil, will be relieved from point to point by their owners. The government has organized a series of collection parties, each under command of an officer, which are touring several of the departments and picking up such copper as is offered for sale. The government offers four francs (80 cents) per kilogram.

The half dozen departments where the collection tours are taking place have been notified of the exact day and hour when the collectors may be expected to arrive. In all, 177 towns in six departments are being visited during the latter part of August and the early weeks of September.

Meanwhile the government maintains in Paris a sort of old-copper headquarters at 2 Avenue de Saxe where utensils and objects of all kinds made of red copper may be turned in at four francs the kilo.

FOOD DICTATOR WENT HUNGRY

Amsterdam, Sept. 6.—Batoeki, former German food dictator, had considerable difficulty in obtaining food for himself during his fifteen months in office, according to an intimate article published in the Berlin Mittag Zeitung. He lost thirty-five pounds in weight and suffered equally with other dictators for want of nourishment and fuel.

Originally Batoeki was a so-called self-provider and as such had no food cards. But food parcels sent him from his country place repeatedly were stolen. Of a parcel of butter sent from the country he once received only the box, upon which was written "Held out on that, you blackguard." After this incident the food dictator applied for a set of ordinary citizen's food cards. Later on he became ill and his physician ordered a diet containing more fats, to which Batoeki replied, "I am glad it is no worse. It is only the popular complaint—underfeeding."

Batoeki was not overpopular with his staff because, being a hard worker himself, he insisted upon his subordinates performing a corresponding number of tasks. He retired to private life preparatory to joining a cavalry corps in which he holds the rank of captain.

THOMPSON BRINGS BIG SUIT.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—Mayor Thompson today filed a precept in a suit for $250,000 damages against the Chicago Herald and Examiner, and James Keeley, the publisher. The Herald among others has criticized vigorously the mayor's anti-war attitude.

Healed. This will enable Germany to continue for a long period.

To win, the Allies must smash Germany's line, and to do this requires a greatly superior force to that needed to hold an entrenched position. Let us not deceive ourselves or be misled by false overtures of peace, that shall in any way abate our activity. This war must be fought out and be won or lost in Europe. It will require desperate fighting on land, on sea and in the air. Without us the Allies cannot win. We must quickly grasp and fully meet the situation. Our response must be prompt and to the utmost of our ability. We must strengthen the lines. Should Russia be out of it, we must go in with one, two and perhaps three millions of men. We must prepare for this. We must have a plan ready, one as big as the project and one that will produce results quickly. In brief, we must immediately provide for universal military training as a definite and fixed policy of this government, and as soon as the conditions now under construction have been vacated by the men called by the selective draft, they must be filled with other men to receive intensive military training for at least six months. If they are not then needed, send them home and fill the quarters with younger men coming on, until every man physically fit, as he reaches a given age, shall undergo this training. If the country needs him, he can respond efficiently. If it does not, he is a stronger and better man for the training. It will help him to fight his own battles in life with greater success; it will give him a stronger physique and a better conception of what our government means and of his obligation to it. Training these young men in advance will add immeasurably to their efficiency as soldiers and teach them how to protect themselves in action. Such training will save tens of thousands of lives that otherwise would be sacrificed and billions of money that otherwise would be wasted. Our boys must meet by thorough training, and only by so doing will our boys have the opportunity to meet the foe upon equal terms. We must never again be caught so completely unready to defend ourselves. Our motto must be, "Safety first and safety always."

GOING OUT AFTER THE DRAFT SLACKERS

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, Sept. 6.—United States Marshall Mitchell today began the task of rounding up the draft slackers who have failed to answer to their draft call. Warrants were issued today for twenty and it is said that there are several hundred throughout the state who have failed to respond.

CHARLESTOWN NAVAL PRISON REOPENED

After having been closed for about five years, the naval prison at the Charlestown navy yard was re-opened Thursday, and will be used as a house of detention for marines and bluejackets awaiting trial by general court-martial. Thirty men from the Commonwealth Pier receiving ship, most of whom are held on charges of desertion, were transferred to the prison, relieving the situation regarding prisoners at the pier.

Captain J. H. Sauter of the marine corps branch of the National Naval Volunteers and formerly of the First Rhode Island Marine Militia Company, has been placed in command of the prison. Gunner Sergeant Stewart W. Noble is warden. Two more sergeants and three corporals have also been appointed to the prison staff, and a request has been sent to Washington for a company of eight marines to act as a guard.

The prison is a five-story building, containing accommodations for 250 prisoners. A part of the first floor will be used by the officers in charge, and a section of the top floor as a dormitory for the guard. A kitchen, dining-room and laundry for the prisoners are situated in the basement.

DRAFTSMEN TO BE OFFICERS

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, Sept. 6.—Secretary of War Baker has announced that every opportunity will be given the men of the new national army to become officers. Plans are perfected for a third officers training camp and the drafted men will all have a chance.

GOLFERS HELP SOLDIERS TOBACCO FUND

The tobacco funds of the soldiers was just an even hundred dollars better off from the annual tournament of the New Hampshire Golf Association at Nashua on Monday and Tuesday.

All of the entry money secured was used for this purpose and by a vote of the executive committee of the association it was turned over to this fund by the treasurer, Mr. Harry J. Stewart.

The association at the spring meeting voted to make it a Red Cross or some other war relief fund and it was the general opinion that if the fund was devoted to the tobacco fund of the soldiers it would give them as much pleasure as anything.

STRIKERS AND OFFICIALS IN CONFERENCE

Boston, Mass., Sept. 6.—The strike of the 3000 shop workers of the Boston and Maine R. R. discussed at a conference of the railroad officials and workers with Mr. Henry B. Endicott of the Massachusetts service committee. In a statement given out this evening it was stated that while no decision had been made there had been a general clearing of the air. Earlier in the day Mr. Endicott received a telegram from Secretary of War Baker and Secretary of Labor Wilson urging him to use his good office in the settlement of the strike.

WANT AMERICAN CAPITAL FOR EAST INDIES

(By Associated Press.)
The Hague, Netherlands, Sept. 7.—"I regard it as most desirable that more American capital should be invested in the Netherlands East Indies, and I have done constantly what I could to promote that end," declared J. B. van der Houven van Oort, one of three Hollanders who have just been charged with an official mission to Washington in connection with the pending export question, that so vitally concerns the Netherlands. Mr. van Oort is a colonial official and authority. He has been Under-Secretary of State for the Colonies, and has also filled the post of Vice-President of the Council of the Netherlands East Indies.

To the correspondent of the Associated Press, Mr. van Oort pointed out that there has been a big increase in the commercial intercourse between America and Dutch India since the war, and particularly since the establishment of a direct steamship line between Java and San Francisco. "The five boats now engaged in that service," he said, "are always packed with goods. Rubber, and all kinds of tropical products are shipped to the United States, and the boats return laden with railroad rolling-stock, machinery, automobiles, airplanes and the like. If only the ships were available, the service might easily, and to advantage, be extended."

"But the amount of American capital operating in the colony is small in comparison with the British, German, French and Belgian capital. It is true there has been an increase in recent years. There is one American rubber estate in the island of Sumatra that is the largest plantation in the world, and special ships run to the United States ports to carry its produce thither. But a great deal more might profitably be done, especially now money is so plentiful in the Union. The sugar, rubber, tea and other agricultural branches offer enormous scope for profitable investment, not to speak of mining possibilities."

"Although there are at present very few in the country, Americans are popular in the Netherlands East Indies, and they and their enterprises are assured of a most cordial welcome. There is every prospect of a big extension of the relations between the two countries, to our mutual advantage."

SERBIA LOOTED, TRADE RUINED, BY INVADERS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 3.—Several weeks ago The Christian Science Monitor was able to present official facts furnished by the Serbian Minister concerning the economic exploitation of Serbia by Austria. Further information from the same source reveals a condition even more deplorable for the people of Serbia than was shown in the first account.

The legation here has evidence that all Serbian commerce has been ruined, and every scintilla of the commercial and business activities of the former Serbian nation has been studiously eliminated. The Austrians and Bulgarians are accused of numerous violations of the Hague agreements in a statement issued by the legation, it says.

"The arbitrary deprivation of Serbian money has occasioned a serious loss to the Serbian population in the occupied territory. The population had all its cash in Serbian money, and when the value of this was forcibly reduced by one half, the Serbian population was, by this fact, deprived of one-half of its savings. Numerous families, whose cash moreover, was never great, very quickly found themselves in a state of misery, and the impoverishment of our population was thus much hastened. In addition, the Serbian State suffered in its rights and its interests, for, by making use of their military powers, the Austrians and the Bulgarians have, in the occupied territory, substituted Austrian and

Offering Little Resistance to Advances of Germans but Holding Line—Italians Still on Offense

(By Associated Press.)
The Russian and Austrian-Italian front continues to be the center of the world's war. In the former, the Russians are still holding before the Germans in the vicinity of Riga and toward Petrograd. In the latter, the Italians are still carrying on the offensive with the Austrians offering a stubborn resistance, although harassed along the line.

BODY OF CHILD DISPOSED OF AT WOMAN'S BIDDING

(By Associated Press.)
St. Johnsbury, Vt., Sept. 6.—How the body of little Alice Bradshaw, the crippled child murdered, was disposed of, was related to the jury by John Kerwin in the trial of Mrs. Kennison light and told the body in the road and Miss Hicks charged with causing the child's death. Kerwin, who had pre-Kennison said that child while Miss Hicks beat her with he was awakened in the middle of the attack.

Bulgarian money for Serbian money. "The occupying power has the right to take these measures against the money of the state in the occupied territory, and we must protest against the measure taken by the Austrian and Bulgarian military authorities, the more so as they withdrew from the occupied territory money of a superior value and replaced it with money of an inferior quality."

"The Bulgarians have considered as war booty the National Library, the Bolgrad University Library, which they found at Nis, and the Library of the School of Theology. The books and manuscripts in all of these libraries were carried off to Bulgaria, contrary to Article 56 of the Hague Convention. They regarded as war booty all the furnished properties of the Serbian State, in spite of the fact that Article 53 of the Hague Convention provides that such movable property belonging to the State which may be used for military operations, may be regarded as war booty. Contrary to the distinct prohibition of Article 53, the Bulgarian Government decided to transport to Bulgaria all the movable property of the various state institutions in Serbia, without regard as to whether they could be utilized for military operations or not. See the Bulgarian Journal Dnevnik, of Feb. 7, 1916.

"The Serbian legation at Sofia was plundered, and the private property of the Minister and his secretaries seized. As to the mines and the watering places, the Bulgarians treated them as the Austrians did, without paying attention to rights acquired previously by those exploiting them or leasing them."

"The Bulgarian Ministry of Agriculture carried out regulations of cattle in the region of the Morava, with the view of distributing these cattle in Bulgaria in order to annihilate their race of cattle. According to Article 62 of the Hague Convention, it is only permissible to carry out regulations for the necessities of the army of occupation, and not for the amelioration of the race of Bulgarian cattle."

HERALD HEARS

That a Baltimore lady who is some swimmer gave an exhibition on the pier at Kittery Point a few evenings ago.

That she not only furnished a surprise to the spectators, but one to herself.

That her first dive was one that certainly started the circulation of the blood in good shape.

That the second plunge was one that completely changed her complexion.

That it required some expert sham-pooling of the hair when she came up. That she made a nice hole in the mud as well as the water.

That only one man in the third draft call up to noon today was ready to fight when he appeared before the war board today.

That he wanted nothing but fight and exemption was a horror to him.

That another farmer from Seabrook came in for exemption.

That he wanted his release on the ground that he was engaged in agricultural pursuits.

That the board told him that only the district board could discharge him on that ground.

That he then fired another one at the board that caused a smile all around.

That he wanted to be released as he was a government employee.

That the board requested to know his occupation.

That he answered in a strong voice that he was a substitute letter carrier at Seabrook.

That one of the members of Engine 2 took in the firemen's day celebration at Hampton Beach.

That it cost him just $12 for watching the handball play out there on that day.

That he will admit that the pick-pockets there were on the job.

That he never separated himself so easily from 12 bones in his life before.

That Manchester opens a municipal market in that city on Saturday.

That if ever any such market was needed anywhere it is needed in Portsmouth.

That some enterprising municipal official could do nothing better than to interest himself in such a matter.

That girls' skirts are predicted to be worn shorter and tighter.

That it is a sure bet that the skirts will have to be made with considerable elastic in them.

That the price booster is still on the job.

That the date should be changed to read 1918 on the Portsmouth Fair sign on Sagamore avenue.

SATURDAY IS TAG DAY

Next Saturday, September 8th, will be Tag Day for the K. of C. war camp fund. This fund which has as its object the furnishing of recreation centers for the moral and social welfare of the men of the army and navy while in the concentration camps here and abroad, is worthy of the support of everyone and the local council hope that this public appeal will meet with a most generous response.

HE HAS KEPT DAN CUPID BUSY

Wife Tells Police Her Husband Has Been Married Seven Times.

Last week the police had in custody a much married woman but her record for matrimonial ventures puts her in the primary class compared with a former resident of Haverhill, Mass., who was arrested on Thursday on a complaint of his wife, who charged him with assault.

According to this woman her husband has kept Dan Cupid working night and day.

With a smile she told the police that she was the seventh wife of this man and he was her second husband. The police believe that he had done his share in causing the change of Miss to Mrs. and that if there were any iron crosses to spare, one or more should be attached to his manly breast and an ornamented card of thanks presented to him by Col. Roosevelt. Going back to the arrest, wife No. 7 reconsidered her action against her husband and withdrew the complaint on a promise that he would not forget in the future, the words he had so often heard from the parson, "Love, honor and obey."

HELP FROM BOSTON

Truckers, Checkers and Switching Crew Sent Here by B. & M.

The freight business of the Boston and Maine in this city is such that the company has been obliged to send a crew of checkers and truckers from Boston to do the transferring at the Dear street freight house. An extra switching crew is also working in the yard on account of the conditions. At one time this week there were ninety or more cars to be switched and unloaded. The local freight house is crowded to the doors.

FRANK W. KNIGHT SHOE TALKS

10 Market St. "SHOES OF QUALITY" Portsmouth

Lessons must be learned even about shoes. This is a subject that we have studied for years, until now we feel qualified to act as teachers of the right sort of shoes for school children to wear. It is not all a matter of durability, this virtue must be accompanied with perfection of fit, and good looks.

This week we are making special efforts in our Children's Shoe Department, giving exceptional service to the requirements of Fall School days.
